Chicago Fire Battles FC Cincinnati to 0-0 Draw at Nippert Stadium

The Chicago Fire Soccer Club (9-12-11, 38 points) battled FC Cincinnati (6-22-4, 22 points) to a 0-0 draw at Nippert Stadium on Saturday night. The result extends a three game unbeaten streak, as well as a second consecutive clean sheet by goalkeeper Kenneth Kronholm. With a point gained from the draw, the Fire currently sit within three points of a playoff position with two games remaining in the regular season.

Chicago created an early chance to score from a set piece in the ninth minute. Receiving a short corner from midfielder Brandt Bronico, midfielder Nicolás Gaitán whipped a dangerous cross to the near post for defender Francisco Calvo, who headed the ball just over the target.

Two minutes before halftime, the Fire, who outshot FCC 16-10, came dangerously close to breaking through and finding the opening goal. Fire captain Dax McCarty started the play with a long ball over the top for midfielder Przemysław Frankowski, who used his pace to run onto the pass. The Polish international, who played several dangerous crosses in the first half, sent another threatening ball into the 18-yard box for forward Nemanja Nikolić, whose first-time shot was knocked wide by a last-second challenge from defender Mathieu Deplagne.

Chicago dominated the first half with six shots (to FCC's three) and six corner kicks (to FCC's zero).

The Fire, who controlled possession 54-46 in the match, created another good scoring opportunity in the 60th minute, as the Men in Red continued to put the home side under pressure. After combining with defender Bastian Schweinsteiger and Bronico, defender Johan Kappelhof cut the ball back inside the 18-yard box to Nikolić, who knocked his final effort just high of the target.

FC Cincinnati were forced to make 36 clearances in the match.

Two minutes after entering the game, midfielder Aleksandar Katai narrowly missed the target with the Fire's 11th shot of the match. After combining with Nikolić, Katai curled a first-time shot that went just wide of the far post in the 68th minute.

With the Fire pushing for the go-ahead goal late in the match, FC Cincinnati found a chance against the run of play and Kronholm was forced to make his first save of the game in the 79th minute. The goalkeeper dove to his right to push forward Roland Lamah's shot wide of the target to keep the score level. Kronholm, who finished the match with three total saves, recorded his fifth clean sheet of the season.

After pinning Cincinnati deep in their own half, the Fire created another solid opportunity in the 91st minute. Another cross into the box from Chicago forced a poor clearance from the Cincinnati defense. Reacting to the clearance, Katai pounced on the ball on the left side of the 18-yard box and fired a shot that went high of the target. Katai's shot proved to be the Fire's 16th and final attempt of the match, as the referee blew the final whistle in the fourth minute of stoppage time.

Looking ahead, the Fire will return to SeatGeek Stadium to host Toronto FC on Sunday, Sept. 29. Scheduled to begin at 4:00 p.m. CT, the match will be broadcast live on ESPN+ and transmitted locally in Spanish on Univision Radio 93.5 Latino Mix.

Portland Timbers 0, New York Red Bulls 2

The New York Red Bulls snapped a three-match losing streak and secured three massive points, defeating the Portland Timbers, 2-0, at Providence Park Wednesday night.

Playing with intensity and desperation from the opening whistle, the Red Bulls were rewarded with the game's opening goal just three minutes after kickoff.

Making his first appearance since four consecutive starts from June 8 to July 7, Kyle Duncan struck for his first MLS goal as the fullback ran onto a Josh Sims cross and hammering it past Steve Clark first time.

Duncan then helped set up an insurance goal in second-half stoppage time from the penalty spot by Danny Royer. The fullback intercepted a ball in the defensive third and would then send a ball to Marc Rzatkowski at the edge of the 18-yard box. The German midfielder took a touch into the box where he was fouled by Jorge Moreira.

Moments after Duncan's goal, the Red Bulls nearly made it 2-0 when Clark parried Sims' shot into the path of Rzatkowski, whose shot was blocked and Tom Barlow's followup attempt was cleared off the line by Bill Tuiloma.

The Timbers had a golden chance at a 19th minute equalizer, when Diego Valeri fed an open Diego Chara, but the defensive midfielder put his open attempt over Luis Robles and off the crossbar.

Jeremy Ebobisse had two chances to level after the break, but headed directly into Robles off a corner kick and then slipped an open shot wide of the net after latching onto a Sebastian Blanco long ball in the 82nd minute.

Goals

3' — RBNY — Kyle Duncan
90'+6' — RBNY — Danny Royer (PK)

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: The Red Bulls were reeling, but Chris Armas rolled the dice and gave Duncan and Barlow rare starts and it was a masterclass for the embattled coach. They are on the precipice of the playoffs and moved within a point of Toronto FC and D.C. United. The Timbers, meanwhile, were shut out for a second straight game at Providence Park and slipped below the playoff line with four games to play.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: On Sunday, the Timbers hit the woodwork twice. Fast forward and they remained the gang that couldn't shoot straight. This late miss by Ebobisse was especially shocking.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Duncan was brilliant. He not only scored his first MLS goal to set the tone, but he also made a key interception late and played the ball to Rzatkowski that resulted in Royer's insurance PK. Sims also deserves a shout for his best game in a Red Bulls uniform to date.

Vancouver Whitecaps 1, Columbus Crew SC 1

Substitute striker Fredy Montero found a header at the death to help Vancouver Whitecaps FC salvage a 1-1 draw against Columbus Crew SC at BC Place on Saturday afternoon.

Though it looked as if the 'Caps might get on the board first, given positive play throughout the first half, especially from Inbeom Hwang, it was the Crew SC who engineered an opener. Pedro Santos got off a shot that Zac MacMath parried away, but Santos got on the rebound, pressed toward goal, and MacMath tripped him while attempting to defend. MacMath was given the yellow and faced down Gyasi Zardes on the PK; though he guessed the right way, Zardes got enough power on it for his 13th goal of the year.

A pair of Canadian nationals, Theo Bair and Tosaint Ricketts, nearly combined for the equalizer in the 54th minute. Bair set up Ricketts for a shot that Crew SC defender Aboubacar Keita was able to deflect onto the post and into the arms on an on-the-ground Eloy Room.

But it was Marc dos Santos' two offensive subs midway through the half, Montero and Michael Chirinos, that finally paid off. With time ticking down to the final whistle, and precious little happening for the 'Caps offense, Montero was able to find room to operate inside the box, heading an arcing ball past Room to finally get the home side level.

Goals

18' – CLB – Gyasi Zardes (PK)

90' + 4' – VAN – Fredy Montero

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: For the Crew SC, it looked until the very end of the match they'd keep their slim playoff hopes alive. By the match's end, they found themselves rooting for Real Salt Lake, as a New England win or tie would officially end Columbus' chances at the post-season. The Whitecaps, of course, are already out of the playoff picture, and will face the Galaxy next week without Ali Adnan, who picked up the magic yellow card to keep him out a match due to yellow card accumulation.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: It didn't look like it was coming, but Montero's game-tying header at the very end gave the home fans something to be happy about.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Pedro Santos had a solid full 90, setting up the PK that looked like it'd hold up for the win, and being lively when he wasn't being a direct threat.

Seattle Sounders 0, FC Dallas 0

FC Dallas held the Seattle Sounders to only three efforts on target and earned a gritty and rare 0-0 draw on Wednesday night at CenturyLink Field, moving back above the Western Conference playoff line in the process.

With the Portland Timbers losing at home to the New York Red Bulls, Dallas swapped places with Portland into seventh in the West with their result.

They also snapped a string of eight league losses at Seattle, earning just their fifth MLS point in 12 visits there overall.

Xavier Arreaga was sent off late in the second half for the Sounders due to a second bookable offense, as his side were shut out at home for the first time this season.

Seattle remain second in the Western Conference with three matches remaining, two points ahead of a Minnesota United team that has four left to play.

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: Dallas are far from comfortable in their position above the playoff line, especially considering the Timbers have a game left in hand. But given their past history at Seattle, this was definitely a moral victory. That's not even to mention their defensive turnaround from their last time out, in which they conceded four goals before halftime in a 4-0 loss at the Chicago Fire.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: Seattle's best chance to get to FCD might have been their earliest, when Joevin Jones whipped in a ball from the left that both Cristian Roldan and Raul Ruidiaz may have done better with on a different day.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Joevin Jones. It was too hard to pick out one stellar performer for Dallas' defense, and not much was asked of Jesse Gonzalez or Stefan Frei. The Sounders didn't do nearly enough with their majority share of possession, but Jones' work on the left flank was at the root of three of their four best chances.

New England Revolution 0, Real Salt Lake 0

The New England Revolution pressed and probed, but couldn't find the elusive and needed goal as the hosts drew heavily rotated Real Salt Lake, 0-0, Saturday night at Gillette Stadium.

The first scoring chance came early with Carles Gil cutting the ball onto his left foot and putting a curling effort that skimmed off the crossbar and out in the 7th minute.

Gustavo Bou was lively off the substitute's bench. He was set up nicely in the box from a Juan Agudelo layoff. But his 68th-minute shot was blocked well. Ten minutes later, Bou sent a driven ball in front of the goal that deflected out for a goal kick.

After DeJuan Jones came close to the winner, Brandon Bye latched onto a Gil free kick and headed off the frame in the 85th minute. Wilfried Zahibo's rebound was blocked before RSL was able to clear.

Damir Kreilach had Real Salt Lake's best chance with a dangerous free kick in the 75th minute, but it was blocked by the New England wall.

Goals
None

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: Birthday boy Bruce Arena labeled the game a must win. He wasn't pleased at halftime and surely the same was true at the full-time whistle. The Revs, pending Orlando City SC's result against the Houston Dynamo, are still two points above the playoff line in the East. Freddy Juarez rolled the dice with a heavy rotation ahead of a vital home game Wednesday at Rio Tinto Stadium against the LA Galaxy and it paid off.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: This was the wildest sequence of a second-half heavily tilted in the Revs' attacking third.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Bou picked up a knock during the week at training and was limited to a substitute's appearance, but when he came on the Argentine Designated Player was a threat with every touch. He probably deserved a late winner, but he skied it into Patriot Place.

LAFc 1, Toronto FC 1

Carlos Vela converted from the penalty spot deep into second-half stoppage time for his MLS leading 29th goal of the season to help LAFC salvage a 1-1 draw against Toronto FC at Banc of California Stadium on Saturday night.

Vela converted after Chris Mavinga scissored down Latif Blessing inside the penalty area. Referee Ted Unkel initially awarded only a corner, but changed his ruling following a Video Review.

The Supporters' Shield leaders are still in a skid of sorts, winless in their last five while drawing four, and now officially can't clinch the overall top seed this weekend.

Jozy Altidore set up Tsubasa Endoh early for Toronto, who still clinched their place in the Audi 2019 MLS Cup Playoffs via the Montreal Impact's loss across town against the LA Galaxy.

The Reds are now unbeaten in their last eight matches, their longest such stretch since going 11 without a loss during a 2017 campaign season that ended in an MLS Cup title. But this time around, five of those eight results are draws.

Goals

19' - TOR - Tsubasa Endoh
90'+5 - LAFC - Carlos Vela (PK)

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: Carlos Vela has now scored eight times from the penalty spot in 2019 in 10 attempts in league play. Atlanta United's Josef Martinez also counted eight penalties among his MLS single-season record of 31 goals, posted last year.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: This will be one Chris Mavinga will want to have back, especially since he appeared to have situation covered had he not gone in for the challenge. While Unkel did not point to the spot in real time, on replay that's about as no-doubt as it gets.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Quentin Westberg. Kind of a tough decision here, but he kept his defense organized, had sure hands throughout, and made a couple potentially difficult saves look simple. In particular, his 50th-minute denial of Vela was much harder than it looked.

LA Galaxy 2, Montreal Impact 1

Zlatan Ibrahimovic helped lift the LA Galaxy into third place in the Western Conference following a 2-1 win over the Montreal Impact Saturday night at Dignity Health Sports Complex.

Ibrahimovic initially pulled within a goal of Golden Boot presented by Audi leader Carlos Vela with the opening goal in the 31st minute before Vela maintained his two-goal edge with the late equalizer in LAFC's 1-1 draw with Toronto FC.

Cristian Pavon started the sequence with chasing down a ball played long and cutting it back from the endline. Jonathan dos Santos ran onto it and fired shot toward the net that first caromed off Uriel Antuna and then Ibrahimovic, who turned and fired in his 27th goal of the season from 8 yards out.

The goal was upheld following Video Review, which was used to determine if Pavon was in an offside position on the ball played behind.

Lassi Lappalainen leveled for the Impact in the 48th minute, latching onto a ball lofted behind the Galaxy defense by Saphir Taider and put his open header from nine yards out past David Bingham.

Two minutes later, though, the Galaxy went back in front through Antuna with Pavon again picking up the assist. The Argentine winger pressured Evan Bush on a pass played back to the goalkeeper and then chased the ball down in the corner, playing into the box. Ibrahimovic headed down to Antuna, who took it off his chest, but whiffed on his first chance, with Samuel Piette also missing a chance to clear, before scoring his fifth goal of the season.

Goals

31' — LA — Zlatan Ibrahimovic
48' — MTL — Lassi Lappalainen
50' — LA — Uriel Antuna

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: A week removed from being below the playoff line in the West, the LA Galaxy are now third in the West with three games to play — two against teams below the playoff line (Vancouver Whitecaps and Houston Dynamo). The Impact lost their third straight game, yet are still three points below the line in the East with two games to play.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: This is how you respond after conceding the equalizer. Pavon gets a lion's share of the credit here for his effort to create Antuna's winner almost out of nothing.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Pavon was a beast, influential on every touch and putting in the hard work to pressure Bush on Antuna's winning goal. He deserved a goal and came close on a few occasions.

Sporting Kansas City 2, Colorado Rapids 3

Tommy Smith headed in Jack Price's corner kick five minutes from full time to complete the Colorado Rapids' comeback from two goals down and keep them mathematically alive for the postseason in a 3-2 victory over 10-man Sporting Kansas City at Children's Mercy Park on Saturday night.

Smith's winner followed him conceding an earlier own goal to put the Rapids in a 2-0 hole, shortly before SKC's Matt Besler was sent off to offer the Rapids a road back into the match.

From there, two former Kansas City players wstarted the response for Colorado, which has won four of five games since the arrival of new full-time manager Robin Fraser.

Kei Kamara found the net with a sensational bicycle kick goal just before halftime for his 12th of the season, and then Diego Rubio leveled for his 10th — with an assist from Smith — with a quarter of an hour to play.

Gerso put SKC in front after only three minutes, and the hosts had doubled their lead 11 minutes later when Smith turned the ball into his own net while pressured by Krisztian Nemeth.

Kansas City's fortunes reversed drastically in the 20th minute when Besler comitted his second bookable offense, misfiring on a clearance and catching Sam Nicholson's face with his boot.

Now it's SKC who could be officially out of the push for the Audi 2019 MLS Cup Playoffs depending on Sunday's results.

Goals

3' - SKC - Gerso

14' - SKC - Tommy Smith (OG)

42' - COL - Kei Kamara

76' - COL - Diego Rubio

85' - COL - Tommy Smith

Three Things

THE BIG PICTURE: Besler's ejection was the third of his career and by far his equickest. Previously, he was sent off after 70 minutes of a home draw against the New York Red Bulls to open the 2015 season, and 75 minutes into an away win at Toronto FC in July of the previous year.

MOMENT OF THE MATCH: Kamara seems a sure bet to be among the candidates for Week 29 Goal of the Week candi-date after he posted up Botond Barath and unleashed this ferocious bicycle kick that left Tim Melia little chance. It was his fourth league goal in 13 matches against SKC. Between 2009 and 2013, he scored 38 goals for Kansas City in MLS play.

MAN OF THE MATCH: Tommy Smith. Much as the Rapids have appeared bent on redemption since Fraser's arrival, Smith also played like someone who wanted to personally make ammends after halftime. His hold-up play and layoff to set up Rubio's leveler was subtle but impressive, and the near-post header he won on his winner was emphatic.
